

Non-Tenure Track Assistant/Associate/ Full Professors of Accounting Temple University, Fox School of Business, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

We seek dynamic and innovative faculty who have a record of teaching excellence at the collegiate level to teach graduate and undergraduate courses in accounting along with service assignments. Candidates should be well-qualified to design and teach courses in one or more of these categories of course offerings: data analytics in accounting, accounting information systems, financial accounting, managerial accounting, and/or internal audit. Teaching assignments may be during the day, evening, online and at multiple campuses. Service assignments will include advising accounting majors towards academic and career success. Service contributions to the Department, School, University, profession and community are also expected. There are no requirements for research activities for this position, but having publications and current research projects are considered desirable. A Ph.D. or DBA in accounting, or closely related field, or foreign equivalent by September 1, 2020, is preferred, but those with a degree and professional certification (such as CPA, CMA, CIA) and equivalent industry experience may be considered. Preferred qualifications: A minimum of one to three years of recent experience teaching accounting at the college level.
